

"UNCLE" NEVER GETS TIRED OF WORKING

Protest on Closing Order Presented to City by Pawnbrokers—Will Fix Pearl Street.

Your "uncle" at the sign of the three balls can't handle the city's pawnshop business unless he's permitted to remain open until 9 o'clock each night except Saturday, was the gist of the complaint that was laid before the city commissioners at the regular semi-weekly session yesterday evening.

Now whether this is an indication of Tulsa's prosperity or no is debatable, it being determined by the premise that the rush of getting over out of work continues until midnight.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon of the city engineer, city attorney and commissioners of streets and alleys, it was decided that Tulsa county will pay $2500 with the city in fixing up Pearl street, in the vicinity of the street which will be macadamized and sewers put in. It is the object of both the county and city to get the street in passable condition as soon as possible. No bids will be advertised for, estimates by the city engineer being relied upon, and work started immediately.

Bids were received for the purchase and installation of approximately $5000 worth of water mains from Tibbet & Pleasant of Tulsa, Camstock & Hanson of Tulsa, J. O. Severson of Tulsa and McCoy & Taylor of Wichita, Kan.

At present Tulsa is without a fire marshal. E. Markwell, former fire marshal, having presented his resignation, which was duly accepted. The position will be filled by appointment.

H. H. Wess, city engineer, presented his report regarding the sewerage of Kendall addition and recommended that the petition for this district be granted and City Attorney Earl Sneed be instructed to create a sanitary sewer district in this section. The petition of property owners for sewers in alleys in block 19, Cherokee Heights addition, was re-

Slump in the Giving Isn't Going to Put Christmas Fund Over Quick.

There's a slump in the giving in the Christmas fund for the ambulance and engineer companies, the total receipts yesterday being only $21. The total to date is $202.50. The fund should be increased to $400 as quickly as possible. It may take a long time to get it in the hands of the Tulsa boys, who right now are pretty busy taking care of about the most important job they ever had.

Here's the report up to last night:

Christmas Fund for Engineer Boys, As previously reported $175.50

ferred to the city engineer and the city attorney. Reports of the inspection departments for the month of October were presented and totaled as follows: Receipts from building inspectors, $241.70; total value of building permits for the month of October, $271.75; receipts of public property department from various sources, $132.50; wages and expenses of the street department for October and including street cleaning, $2,829.50; street maintenance, $523.50.

City Physician Dr. P. A. Mangum's report was quite lengthy and naturally consisted mainly of investigations and disposals of influenza cases. In charity cases of contagious diseases were treated at the office and during the period the detention camp was open, business for this department was unusually brisk, five and six trips to the camp being made by the city physician every 24 hours.

Get Boogie Car. City Officers Boyd and Mitchell brought in a car from Admiral and Rockford last night which had apparently contained a quantity of booze. The car had struck a horse and buggy driven by R. Turner of Dawson, breaking the horse's leg. While some one telephoned for the police the driver of the car was seen smashing bottles at the back of the car with a brick. A few bottles were saved, partially filled with liquor. When the driver of the car saw the officers coming he broke and ran. The car is at the police station.

PIANO FUND DOES NOT ASSUME BIG PROPORTIONS

Money amounting to $225 in all that has been raised so far with which to buy pianos for the boys at Camp Pike and the quarter here with Director Hart on this mission has only three more days in Tulsa. The plan does not come from any particular organization, or from the army, but from the 620 Tulsa boys at Camp Pike and the 549 other Oklahoma boys there, who are eagerly waiting to know how successful the efforts of their representatives have been.

Last night the boys sang at the Ketchikan, and today they will give a matinee at Hotel Tulsa. Tonight at 7 another entertainment will be given and through arrangement with Mrs. Murray D. Russell local talent will be incorporated into the program.

Director Hart says that the need of morale during the fluctuating reports of peace is great. Morale can be obtained through the medium of entertainment, and entertainment is seldom without music. He calls to mind the fact that the defeat of the Italians at Tagliamento was due largely to the lack of morale as was the disintegration of the Russian army.

Pat Malloy, 1612 Kennedy building, is official receiver for the donations and anyone who wants to give may see him or make their contribution by mail.

PESSIMISTIC SOLDIER TO BE RETURNED TO FT. SILL

He didn't give a damn; he'd just as soon die here as elsewhere and he didn't care if he was sent to the penitentiary. These were the sentiments of Edwin J. Thurston, Battery A, 9th E. A., escaped prisoner from confinement at Fort Sill, who was turned over to authorities yesterday, and is being held at the city jail until the arrival of a guard from Fort Sill. He got his meals at the Red Cross canteen for several days. Noting his peculiar actions and the fact that his uniform wasn't strictly regulation he was turned over to the council of defense for investigation and as a result is being held in jail.

Frank Morrison, who escaped from Fort Sill at the same time, was caught by Lambert and Taylor of the police force. Last week, with three others, he broke jail but was caught 15 minutes afterwards by Plainclothesmen A. H. Taylor and has been in jail ever since. He will be returned to Fort Sill with Thurston.

OIL MEN ENTERTAINED CONGRESSMAN FERRIS

Congressman Scott Ferris was a guest last night of a number of Tulsa men at the Petroleum Club. Mr. Ferris was very much interested in the oil situation and as a basis for handling important taxation legislation now pending, went into details of the business.

The affair was wholly informal and was given in appreciation for Mr. Ferris' interest in the oil industry.

We Want a Change

Tax-burdened, Boss-ridden Tulsa County and Oklahoma cry out for a change.

Mr. Voter, stop and think before you vote! Today no one outside the ring can get a look in. Taxes must come to keep up expense of the ring. The Democratic ticket, made up by the bosses, contains Tulsa men only. They seem afraid to trust the country and smaller towns. Lou Cline and Lou North are the leaders of the ring, or the bosses. They each have offices and are now on the Democratic ticket for office again. They are the bosses of the ring, and hence of office holding. No candidate gets in without their O. K.

These two men were President and Secretary of the County Exemption Board, and as such were officers of the Government. They tried to boss in that. They were dismissed. We have been asking them, through the papers, to explain why they were discharged. They have not answered. The facts are as follows:

The dismissal of the board was the result of a telegram sent by Major Kerr to Washington. Quotas had been drawn from Tulsa about double the number taken from the country districts, at the time the quotas were called the last of May and the first of June. The adjutant general's office, to even things up over there, asked for most of the May-June quotas to come from the country. This Cline refused to do, until compelled by the adjutant general's office. (Attempting to boss the Government.) He called Major Kerr over the telephone and told him that he would not comply with the orders of the adjutant general and asked what they would do if he should refuse. Kerr told him that he would be arrested for obstructing the draft and refusing to obey orders. Cline finally complied, however, after much parleying. The adjutant general sent an inspector to Tulsa and found Cline's records in bad shape. In the middle of June Kerr nominated A. W. Lucas of Skiatook for Cline's place, and asked for Cline's removal on the ground that he was not giving co-operation to the adjutant general's office. Lucas agreed to serve, but after talking with Cline declined to accept. (Boss, you see, in Tulsa County.) Kerr then nominated John S. Severson of Broken Arrow. Severson told several persons that he would serve and was duly appointed, but later he went to Tulsa, talked with Cline and refused to serve. (Boss, you see, in Tulsa County.)

Kerr then sent a telegram to Washington recommending that the Tulsa county board be discharged. The recommendations were followed.

These two men attempted to boss their superiors in the war matter. The kaiser attempted to boss this Government, and we went after him and intend to put him down and out,
